Corporate and M&A

Leonardo Adamo is a partner in the Commercial Contracts and Corporate Law practice at Garrigues.

He has extensive experience in M&A transactions, international contracting, corporate restructuring, financing and refinancing of business groups, real estate law, family protocols, as well as providing legal advice as secretary or vice-secretary to the board of directors of various corporate groups.

He is an Italian and Spanish lawyer. Having trained in Italy, he has particularly strong links with Italian-speaking clients, advising on transactions with and from Italy.

Moreover, he advises on a recurrent basis on contractual, corporate and internal restructuring matters to different groups of companies.

He is a member of the Alicante Bar Association.

Experience

Leonardo Adamo is a partner in the commercial contracts and corporate law practice at Garrigues since 2025, having joined the firm in 2006.

In his professional activity, he has participated in highly complex transactions, such as:

- M&A transactions culminating in the acquisition or sale, as the case may be, of major companies and business groups in various economic sectors.
- Corporate restructuring operations.
- Real estate transactions.
- Company financing and refinancing transactions.
- Transactions and processes for planning and executing the business succession of family corporate groups.

He also provides recurring legal advice to various groups of companies, providing, among others, the following types of services:

- Advice in the contractual field, analysing, drafting and negotiating contracts common in the commercial activity of companies.
- Advice in the corporate field.
- Specific legal advice on joint venture operations, partner agreements, framework agreements, among others.
- Legal advice on aspects related to family businesses (family protocol, inheritance aspects, etc.).

He also has extensive experience in strategic legal advice in relation to contractual and corporate matters.

He is an Italian and Spanish lawyer. Having trained in Italy, he has particularly strong links with Italian-speaking clients, advising on transactions with and from Italy.

Academic background

Degree in Law, Università degli Studi di Catania (Italy).

He regularly lectures on undergraduate, postgraduate and master's degree courses related to business law and, in particular, commercial law.

He is also a regular speaker at specialised forums, such as the Alicante Chamber of Commerce or the Alicante Federation of Public Works (FOPA), among others.
