Raquel Gómez is a senior associate in the Corporate and Mergers & Acquisitions practice at Garrigues.

She has extensive experience in corporate law and corporate restructurings, participating in both national and cross border transactions, including mergers, demergers, global transfers of assets and liabilities, conversions and other corporate transactions. She is also involved in the negotiation and drafting of commercial contracts and provides direct support in board secretarial functions.

Experience

Raquel Gómez is a senior associate in the Corporate and Mergers & Acquisitions practice within the Corporate Law Department at Garrigues, a firm she joined in 2018.

Her practice focuses on comprehensive corporate law advice and corporate restructuring processes for national and international clients.

She provides regular advice on:

- corporate restructurings — including mergers, demergers, global transfers of assets and liabilities, and conversions — at both national and cross border level;
- incorporating companies (newcos), acquiring shelf companies (shelfcos) and establishing branches;
- share capital increases, whether in cash, in kind, by offsetting credits or charged to reserves;
- share capital reductions, whether by returning contributions (pro rata or otherwise), restoring equity balance, or creating or increasing reserves, as well as derivative acquisitions of shares for subsequent redemption;
- matters relating to the composition and appointment of governing bodies, dividend policy and directors' remuneration systems;

- assessing the transferability of shares, quotas and other equity interests;
- dissolution and liquidation processes;
- board secretarial support; and
- drafting, negotiating and reviewing commercial contracts.

She has experience in the Pharmaceutical, Biotechnology and Life Sciences; Agribusiness and Food; Family Business; Tourism and Hospitality; and Technology, Communications and Digital sectors.
