Tax

Banking and Finance

Daniel Valldosera is the partner in charge of the Indirect Tax Service Line (VAT and Customs) in the Barcelona office since 2007.

He participates in the recurring advice on indirect taxation matters for most of the clients of the Barcelona office, especially in those matters of greater complexity, providing an agile, reliable and high quality service. He intervenes in numerous M&A projects analysing the aspects related to indirect taxation and advises a significant number of groups on the application of the special regime for groups of entities.

He has extensive experience in inspection procedures as well as before the Courts, and his extensive knowledge of EU case law on indirect taxation is very useful.

Experience

Daniel Valldosera has been a partner in the Tax Law Department of Garrigues since 2007, a firm he joined in September 1992, then Arthur Andersen, Asesores Legales y Tributarios. He has been the partner in charge of the Indirect Tax Service Line (VAT and Customs) in the Barcelona office since 2007, although he began working in this speciality within the Tax Law Department in 2002.

He regularly advises companies and entities in sectors in which Value Added Tax is a relevant tax due to its cost, such as finance, insurance, real estate, gambling, health and foundations.

He also provides recurring advice on indirect taxation matters to many of the Barcelona office's clients, especially in the most complex matters, providing a fast, reliable and high quality service. He is involved in numerous M&A projects, analysing aspects related to indirect taxation and advises a significant number of groups on the application of the special regime for groups of entities.

He has extensive experience in inspection procedures as well as before the Courts, and his extensive knowledge of EU case law on indirect taxation is very useful.
