Corporate and M&A

Alejandro Sánchez Sánchez is counsel in the commercial contracts and corporate law practice at Garrigues. He is specialized in M&A transactions, corporate restructuring, financing and refinancing of business groups, as well as providing legal advice to family businesses and acting as secretary to the board of directors of various corporate groups. He is also an expert in providing recurring advice on contractual and corporate matters for groups of companies. He has extensive teaching experience, both as an associate lecturer in commercial law at university level and on various courses and master's degrees. He has been a member of the Alicante Bar Association since 2003.

Experience

Alejandro Sánchez Sánchez is counsel in the commercial contracts and corporate law practice at Garrigues since 2022, having joined the firm in 2003. As a professional, he has participated in highly complex transactions, such as the following:

- M&A transactions for the acquisition or sale, as the case may be, of major companies and business groups in various economic sectors.
- Corporate restructuring operations.
- Real estate transactions.
- Company financing and refinancing transactions.
- Transactions and processes for planning and executing the business succession of family corporate groups.

He also provides recurring legal advice to various groups of companies, providing, among others, the following services:

- Advice in the contractual field, analyzing, drafting and negotiating contracts common in the commercial activity of companies.

- Advice in corporate matters.
- Specific legal advice on joint venture operations, partner agreements, framework agreements, among others.
- Legal advice on aspects related to family businesses (family protocol, inheritance aspects, etc.).

He also has extensive experience in strategic legal advice in relation to contractual and corporate matters.

Academic background

Degree in Law, Universidad de Alicante.

Teaching activity

He also has extensive experience in teaching.

- He has eight years of teaching experience as an associate professor attached to the department of commercial and procedural law at the University of Alicante, where he has taught commercial law in various degrees and double degrees.
- He has also been a professor on the master's degree for access to the legal profession for four years.
- He has taught corporate law in several master's degrees (Executive Master in Business Law at Centro de Estudios Garrigues, Master in Business Management at the University of Alicante, among others).
- And he currently continues to teach on master's degrees related to business law and, in particular, commercial law.

He is also a regular speaker at specialized forums, such as the Spanish Association of Tax Advisors (AEDAF), the Alicante Chamber of Commerce and the Alicante Federation of Public Works (FOPA), among others.
