Labor and Employment

Francisco Javier Rojas is the partner in charge of the labor and employment law practice in Garrigues' Murcia office, where he has been working for more than nineteen years after working at other firms. He specialises in corporate restructuring operations; redundancy procedures, individual dismissals, mergers, segregations, outsourcing and subcontracting operations, trade union law; trade union elections, trade union sections, inter-centre committees and other representation formulas; collective bargaining, senior management and occupational risk prevention, having participated in major operations during his professional career. Specialist in the agri-food sector.

He has been an associate lecturer/tutor at the Universidad Nacional a Distancia de Elche (UNED) and lecturer on the Master's Degree in Human Resources at the Universidad Católica de Murcia.

Professor of the Global MBA Master of EBF European Business Factory and the Master MBA Target Business School.

He is a member of the Murcia Bar Association.

Experience

Francisco Javier Rojas has been a partner in Garrigues' Labor and Employment department since 2013, having joined the firm in 2003 after working at other firms.

In his professional activity he has participated in highly complex proceedings in different sectors, including:

Highly complex collective redundancies due to the number of people affected and the circumstances involved.

Temporary employment regulation procedures.

Negotiation in the context of strike calls.

Procedures for non-application of agreements, substantial modifications of working conditions and transfers.

Negotiation of sectoral and company collective agreements, as well as other types of collective agreements.

Litigation arising from collective disputes and individual claims.

In addition to this advice on strategic operations, he also provides recurring employment advice to clients, both Spanish and foreign, as well as on senior management issues and international secondment of workers.

Finally, he has advised major business associations on collective bargaining in the agricultural sector.
