Abigail Blanco Vázquez is a partner in the Tax Department at Garrigues. A graduate in Economics and Law, she is a regular lecturer on the Garrigues Study Centre's Master's Degree courses and other courses and seminars.

She has more than 25 years' experience in the practice of business law and specialises in mergers and acquisitions, due diligence procedures, tax inspections and taxation in the field of human resources. She is also a member of the Pharmaceutical, Biotechnology and Life Sciences and Tourism and Hotels specialisation groups.

Abigail coordinates the firm's Tax Department publications. In addition to publishing numerous articles in specialised journals and publications, she has participated in the publication of collective books on personal income tax.

Experience

Abigail Blanco is a partner in the tax law department of Garrigues, where she has developed her professional career following her time at Arthur Andersen. She specialises in tax law and, specifically, in personal taxation (personal income tax, wealth tax, inheritance and gift tax), in M&A processes and in taxation related to advanced remuneration systems and labour regularisation procedures. Among others, she is a reference in the taxation of directors and administrators and in tax regularisation procedures.

She is a leading specialist in tax inspections and in the defence of clients' interests before the Inspectorate and the courts, including defence in cassation and collaboration in state aid proceedings brought by the European Commission and appeals before the Court of Justice of the EU.

She participates with other professionals in the Garrigues Pharmacy, Biotechnology and Life Sciences Group. She also actively participates in the Garrigues Tourism and Hospitality Specialisation Group.

She is in charge of preparing Garrigues' regular and special tax newsletters and reviews on tax matters, and coordinates the department's posts on the Expansión blog "Nuestra Fiscalidad", as well as prepares some of the articles published on the blog.

Abigail Blanco participates in numerous courses, lectures and conferences on a variety of subjects and, on a recurring basis, on real estate taxation, taxation of advanced remuneration systems, taxation derived from employment terminations and taxation of professional companies. She also participates as a lecturer in various Masters courses at the Garrigues Study Centre and in other courses and sessions to which she is invited as a guest speaker.

Abigail is also in charge of personal tax training for new recruits at Garrigues.
