Administrative and Constitutional Law

Planning, Zoning and Environment

ESG

José Segarra García-Argüelles is a partner in the Administrative, Planning and Zoning, and Environmental Law practice of Garrigues in Valencia, and joined the firm in 2002.

He specializes in administrative law, planning and zoning, environmental matters, administrative contracts, and all types of administrative and judicial review proceedings.

Experience

In the area of administrative contracts, he advises clients in the private sector on their contractual relationships with the public authorities, as well as on their participation in invitations to tender launched by the authorities.

In the environmental field, he has provided legal advice to clients in the context of reviews of compliance with environmental legislation, procedures for the grant of environmental intervention instruments, contaminated land procedures and penalty proceedings.

In the planning and zoning area, he focuses on three areas of activity (planning, zoning management and zoning enforcement), advising clients in both the public and private sectors.

As regards special properties (water, coastlines, ports, mines, and woodland), he advises multiple clients in the private sector and, in particular, he has participated in numerous engagements relating to mines and coastlines.

He has extensive experience in energy matters, having advised companies in the energy sector on regulatory matters and in judicial review proceedings.

He also has a wealth of experience in all kinds of administrative proceedings (administrative appeals, penalty proceedings, public procurement, etc.) and judicial review proceedings.

He is fluent in English.

Academic background

- Law Degree, Universidad de Valencia. (1995-2000).
